

Connecting Students to Adult Services

Department of Human Services-Division of Rehabilitation Services

The Division of Rehabilitation Services (DRS) is an agency who provides job placement/training, information and referral services, and counseling and guidance services to individuals with disabilities.

- If the student is 18 years of age, he/she can apply for services from DRS without parental consent. Student(s) should work with their school counselor or case manager to facilitate a meeting between themselves and DRS.
- If the student is under the age of 18, he/she will need parental consent to apply for services from DRS. Parent(s) are encouraged to ask their child's school counselor or case manager for contact information to their local DRS office.
- Parent(s) should work with their child's school counselor or case manager to facilitate a meeting between themselves and DRS. All students who apply to DRS will need copies of their most recent IEP and any pertinent information that can best describe the impact of student's disability. Pertinent information parents can request from the school counselor or case manager may include the student's most recent psychological evaluation, social assessment, nurse report, or other related service report.
- The status of the student's relationship with DRS should be documented in the transition plan of the IEP, and may appear in various sections, such as the Coordinated Set of Activities, Linkages to Post-Graduation Supports and Services, or Home-based Support Services Program. Parent(s) are encouraged to update the IEP team if changes occur in the relationship between the DRS and student with a disability.
